JAIL PAIR FOR ASSAULTING, ROBBING MAN

Two men are in the county jail charged with beating and robbing a Hagerstown man.

State police brought charges of robbery with accomplice and aggravated assault and battery against Paul M. Scott, 21, Main St., Fairfield, and Keith Neil, 25, Greenstone, before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder and placed the two in jail Friday evening at 5:30 o'clock to await a hearing before the justice.

The information against the two alleges that the robbery of $46 from the person of William F. Socks, Hagerstown, and the aggravated assault and battery occurred at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night in Liberty Twp.

State police have also placed John Cornwall, 37, Memphis, N. C., in jail charged with vagrancy.

Police said Socks, aged 51, told them he was picked up by two young men near Emmitsburg, expecting to be taken to Frederick. Instead the two turned toward Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg Rd., then turned off the highway, stopped, beat Socks over the head with a jack handle and robbed him of $46. The two, according to Socks, left him lying in the weeds and drove off.

Socks made his way to Emmitsburg and secured treatment from Dr. G. L. Morningstar. He reported the robbery and assault to Maryland state police. The Maryland officers informed state police here who picked up Scott and Neil.

Scott was reported as having pleaded guilty to the charge. Neil is to be arraigned today.

CHEST FUND HAS 80 PCT. OF ITS GOAL

Gettysburg's Community Chest has reached 80 per cent of its goal, Paul B. Fox, general chairman for the annual campaign said this morning.

Donations received so far in the campaign total $22,639. The amount sought to support six local agencies and the USO is $28,300.

Chest officials were confident the remaining $5,661 can be secured "within the next week if the canvassers who have not yet completed their portion of the drive can wind up their work by that time."

Fox said a check of the donations so far and the count of the number of returns indicates that if donors continue to maintain their giving in proportion to those already reported, and if the solicitors complete their visitations "we will go over the top with ease."

Canvassers may report daily at The First National Bank of Gettysburg from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Community Chest office on the second floor of the YWCA.

3 FINED FOR SPEEDING

Elwood Hartzell, Orrtanna R. D.; John Snively, Fairfield, and Thomas C. Anderson, Gettysburg, were fined $20 each at a hearing before United States Commissioner J. Francis Yake Jr. this morning on charges of speeding on the Gettysburg Battlefield.

BAILED FOR COURT

Earl E. Marker, 83 Steinwehr Ave., posted $500 bond for his appearance in November court on a nonsupport and desertion charge filed by his wife, Mrs. Doris Marker, 131 W. High St., before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Friday.

BUY PROPERTY

Wilbert Riggall, Orrtanna, purchased the property of Lennie Wilkinson on Orrtanna R. 1 in Franklin Twp. at sheriff's sale on the courthouse steps this morning with a bid of $650. The property was sold for approximately $400 in tax liens.

Town Native Dies In Ohio Wednesday

Word has been received here of the death Wednesday evening in Akron, Ohio, of Huber B. Miller, 87, a Gettysburg native.

Mr. Miller was a son of the late Michael M. and Eliza Jane (Ziegler) Miller. He had worked here as a barber before going to Akron many years ago. He was a Lutheran and a member of the Odd Fellows. His wife, the former Ada Pfeffer, died in 1959.

Surviving are these children: Mrs. William Martin, Mrs. Clarence E. Kauffman and Fred Miller, all of Akron, and Maurice Miller, Phoenix, Ariz. There are seven grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren. There are also a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Akron where interment took place.

EX-FOUNDRY WORKER HERE DIES FRIDAY

Ernest G. Strickhouser, 67, last surviving employee of the Gettysburg Foundry operated by the late Capt. Gilbert which produced most of the gun carriages on the battlefield, died Friday evening at 6:10 o'clock at the Warner Hospital. He had been a patient at the hospital for a week and ill for more than a year.

A resident of 3 Baltimore St. for the last eight years, he had resided before that for 10 years in the Wentz house on the battlefield. He had been a painter most of his life and for 30 years was employed by the Gettysburg National Military Park.

His survivors include his wife, the former Maude Leister, to whom he would have been wed 47 years in February.

Also surviving are two children, Mrs. Stanley Dutterer, Hanover, and Raymond E. Strickhouser, Gettysburg; five grandchildren and a number of half brothers and sisters. He was a native of Adams County, a son of the late Charles and Emma (Gilbert) Strickhouser.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bender Funeral Home, Carlisle St., with the Rev. Dr. Howard Schley Fox officiating. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery. Friends may call Monday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the funeral home.

TWO CRASHES INVESTIGATED BY POLICEMEN

State police were called to investigate two accidents, one near New Oxford and the other at the York Springs intersection of old Rt. 15 and Rt. 94.

Four persons were injured in an accident at 3 o'clock this morning near the fish and game lodge near New Oxford, police reported.

They said Benjamin J. Bair, 19, Hanover, was driving his car when it left the highway and struck a tree. Bair and three passengers in the car suffered injuries. The passengers were Donald Weaver, 20, New Oxford R. 1; Paul Strausbaugh, 24, Hanover R. 5, and Albert Strausbaugh, 22, of 219 Main St., McSherrystown.

$225 ACCIDENT

The preliminary report filed by the investigating officer at the state police barracks here did not list the extent of the injuries or amount of damage to the auto.

The accident at the York Springs intersection occurred at 11:15 o'clock Friday morning. According to police, Elsie R. Johnson, 66, Baltimore, driving west on the Hanover-Carlisle Rd., pulled into the path of a northbound truck being operated by Benjamin F. Moore, 40, Harrisburg, on the old Rt. 15.

Damage was estimated at $75 to each of the vehicles. One of the vehicles went off the highway and caused $75 damage to the property of Clair Ditzler in York Springs.

GETS PROMOTION

Robert C. Oyler, son of Mrs. Nadine Oyler, 342 York St., is stationed in Germany and has been promoted to private first class. He has been a member of the U. S. Army since February. His new address is Pfc. Robert C. Oyler, RA 1360817, 100th Trans., APO 139, New York, New York.

SELLS BUSINESS HERE

Mrs. Mildred M. Shenk has sold her Gift and Goody Shop at a Carlisle St. to Richard A. and Ruby F. Keefer, Gettysburg R. 3. The new owners will take over November 1. Mrs. Shenk has operated the business for the last 10 years. The transfer was made by Harry D. Ridinger, Carlisle St.

PERMITS FOR NEW BUILDING OFF IN TOWN

Building permits for construction worth $1,281,625 have been issued so far this year by Burgess Wilbur L. Plank.

The amount is $251,469 under the $1,533,084 worth of construction authorized up to the end of October a year ago and $485,096 under the total amount of construction approved during all of 1959, when permits totaled $1,766,521.

Issuance of the permits so far indicate this year will see a major decline in the start of new homes in Gettysburg. Where 23 new homes had been gotten underway in the town during the first 10 months of 1959, only one of them in October, permits have been issued for only nine new homes during the current year. Of that number, eight had been issued through July and one was added in September.

HOSPITAL WING IN

Permits issued during January through September, 1959, totaled $1,495,384. Permits issued January through September this year totaled $1,025,187.

October, 1959, had permits issued for $37,100 worth of construction. So far this month permits have been issued for $256,438 worth of work but $251,340 of that amount is for the planned surgical section addition to the Warner Hospital, leaving only $5,098 to cover the other permits granted so far this month.

Permits issued this month include the $251,340 one to the Waynesboro Construction Company for the hospital addition, a permit to Gettysburg Construction Company to build a 10 by 14 concrete block structure for a walk-in refrigerator at the rear of the Eagles Lodge; South End Builders and Suppliers, $500 for repairs to porches at the Mayhall and Myers properties on Chambersburg St. damaged when a car struck them.

B. F. Redding, to enclose a porch at 909 Highland Ave. for $350; Roy Coldsmith, to place a section of roof on the R. W. Wentz building, 121 Baltimore St., for $548; Victor Re, for construction of a one-room 15 by 20 addition to the Dorothy Foth residence, E. Lincoln Ave., for $2,200, and Robert Smith, Adams Electric, to raise a garage at the rear of the Bert Hummer home, N. Stratton St., $500.

SEPTEMBER PERMITS

Permits issued in September were for the following purposes: Fern Ohler, to place aluminum siding on the gable end of the house of Robert Diehl, 614 Highland Ave., $225; Paul G. Witt, Gettysburg Motor Lodge, to place a 22 by 52-foot swimming pool at (Continued On Page 3)

Reinhart Resigns As Club Secretary

Kenneth G. Reinhart Jr., secretary of the Gettysburg Country Club, has resigned his position effective January 1. He said pressure of business impelled the resignation. Applications to succeed him will be received by the board of directors before November 8.

The annual golf awards dinner will be held October 27. Cocktails will be served at 5:30 o'clock and a covered dish supper at 6 p.m. Members are to bring a covered dish and their table setting. The committee will furnish meat, rolls and coffee. It will be a joint affair sponsored by the ladies' and men's golf committees.

The men's golf committee will meet November 8 at 7:15 p.m. and the directors at 8 p.m. A stag will follow at 8:30 o'clock.

Both Sides Claim Success In Fourth Great Debate

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
NEW YORK (AP)—The fourth Nixon-Kennedy debate has gone into history with both sides claiming success in an unprecedented series that may—although the possibility is slim—be extended to another match.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy disputed, challenged and rebuked each other for the better part of an hour Friday night before a television and radio audience spread across the nation. They clashed sharply over U.S. policy toward Cuba. Nixon said his Democratic rival had been irresponsible as never before in proposing aid to Cuban elements hostile to both Prime Minister Fidel Castro and former dictator Fulgencio Batista.

KEY STATEMENTS

Kennedy said economic curbs thrown against Cuba by the Eisenhower administration and supported by the GOP candidate were inadequate to cope with Communist penetration of the island republic less than 100 miles from the U.S. coast. Kennedy said communism is most vulnerable in eastern Europe. Nixon said the Soviets may be cheating on the suspension of nuclear tests. MUCH OF IT REHASHED These latter points were two of the newer slants in the fourth debate. For the most part the candidates reshaped views stated in their previous meetings or on the campaign stump. And for that reason, voters who previously had seen or heard them argue could more quickly pick the man they favored beforehand as the winner. Whether or not the fourth debate would stir public demand for an unplanned fifth, Kennedy renewed his call on Nixon to meet again and Nixon said he does not rule out anything. Kennedy had asserted a fifth debate, if not more, would be (Continued On Page 3)

Local Guardsmen Training At Gap

Captain Donald E. Doersom, commanding officers of the local Howitzer Battery of the 2nd Squadron, 104th Armored Cavalry, led his 76-man unit to Indiantown Gap this morning for a weekend of firing on a 1,000-inch range with the M-1.

Captain Doersom and 11 of his men will be the instructors in charge of the firing for the entire squadron. Two officers and 11 men from the local unit left at 7 o'clock this morning for Indiantown Gap Military Reservation to set up the range for the National Guardsmen. The remainder of the unit left by convoy at 9 o'clock. The Guardsmen will return here Sunday evening.

Gettysburg faces the most serious industrial situation it has been confronted with in many, many years. It is so serious that every merchant, manufacturer, professional man and all others should give serious thought to immediate action. If something isn't done soon this historic old town may be shorn of most of its major industries . . . and everyone will feel the ill effects.

The rubber heel plant will be out of business before the end of the year and that means from 100 to 150 men and women will be unemployed.

The furniture factories are in a critical situation. At the last report (although several employees who had been laid off some time ago were called back to work recently), 14 employees, which included the office force, were on the payroll. This compares to a force that ran into the several hundreds not too many years ago. However officials at the factory say the business will continue.

The Gettysburg Throwing Company is facing a losing proposition in competition with Japanese textiles. The seven-cent hourly wage in Japan is too cheap for local competition and the local firm may close down and lease its property for storage purposes. It already has several nibbles for just such a purpose.

One encouraging note is that the Essex Wire Company is not closing, despite many rumors to the contrary.

If three industries leave Gettysburg there will surely have to be replacements or the town will suffer such a financial blow that it will be difficult to overcome. The town cannot exist or grow if it is dependent solely on tourist trade and the college and seminary. Men, women and (Continued On Page 3)

LOSES POCKETBOOK

The Rev. Donald G. Love, formerly stationed at Erie and now assuming a pastorate at Ashtabula, Ohio, is hopeful someone found his pocketbook so he can complete his vacation. The minister is on a tour of battlefields in Gettysburg and Virginia and camping at Caledonia. Thursday night he lost his pocketbook here, he believes on Carlisle St., between Lincoln Square and the Majestic Theater. He hopes anyone who finds it will turn it in to David Finney, a student at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary here.

TRUCKERS CHARGED

Justice of the Peace John O. Whitman, Cumberland Twp., has sent 10-day notices to two truck drivers charged by state police with driving 50 miles an hour in a 40-mile zone in Cumberland. They are William N. Snare, McConnells-town, Pa., and Harold E. Wible, Orbisonia, Pa.

Discharges: Mrs. Milton Rempel, 57 E. Middle St.; Mrs. Ruth Mort, Fairfield R. 2; Mrs. Harvey Wildasin, Littlestown R. 2; Mrs. Joseph Topper, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Harvey Gastley and infant son, R. 1; Mrs. Charles Dell and infant son, Finksburg R. 1, Md.; Patrick Dunnigan, Charlottesville, Va.

SPEAKER FOR LIONS

Dr. Dorothy Douglas, a member of the faculty at Gettysburg College, will be the speaker at the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the VFW home, United Nations Week will be observed.

FINED IN YORK

Richard P. Lawrence, McSherrystown, was fined $200 by the York County court Friday for failing to stop at the scene of an accident. He was convicted August 24.

CLUB WON'T MEET

The Gettysburg Kiwanis Club will omit its regular dinner meeting Monday evening in order to attend the Pittsburgh Symphony concert at Gettysburg High School.

Honor Great Bullet Griddler

Dr. Paul R. Sieber, trustee of Gettysburg College and noted Pittsburgh surgeon, is presented a silver plaque for his famous gridiron feats for Gettysburg College a half century ago. The presentation was made at a testimonial dinner in the college dining hall Friday evening. "Polly" Sieber has been nominated for the Football Hall of Fame. Henry T. Bream (right), director of athletics at the college, was toastmaster at the dinner. (Lane photo)

SPENDING BY FARMERS ROSE IN FIVE YEARS

Adams County farmers spent more than $12,000,000 last year for feed for livestock and poultry, to purchase livestock and poultry, hire machines to get work done, pay the hired man, secure gasoline and other petroleum fuel for farm purposes, and buy seeds, bulbs, plants and trees, according to the current U.S. Census report.

The amount apparently far exceeds similar outlay for the same products in the year 1954, but 1959 apparently marked the first time that statistics were compiled for many of the items.

A total of 1,732 farms reported spending $4,454,302 for feed for livestock and poultry. That compared to 2,078 farms in 1954 which spent $4,229,320 for the same items.

A total of 1,156 farms in 1959 spent $3,311,916 to purchase livestock and poultry. No comparable figures are given for 1954. Growth of ownership of farm machinery is reflected in the outlay for machine hire. Last year 1,215 farms spent $286,705 to hire machinery, compared to 1,597 farms which rented machinery in 1954 at a cost of $331,543.

The hired hands' pay rate apparently increased. Where 1,135 farms reported paying out $2,318,667 for hired help in 1954, 1,047 farms paid $2,741,958 to their hired help in 1959.

More gasoline and other petroleum fuel was used. The 1954 census showed 1,941 farms spending $725,773 for petroleum products in 1954. Last year 1,977 farms spent $878,685 for those products.

The report shows 1,417 farmers spent $354,960 during last year for seeds, bulbs, plants and trees.

SOLOIST USES GOLD FLUTE IN CONCERT HERE

Bernard Z. Goldberg, noted flutist, will be the featured soloist at the Monday evening concert of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra in the Gettysburg High School auditorium. Tickets for the concert will be available at the door.

A distinguished artist in his instrumental specialty, he is proud of his specially made flute. It was constructed out of solid gold by the world's greatest flutist-smith, who added extra note range to extend Goldberg's versatility.

Gold was used as a raw material because musicians over the centuries have learned through experience that the quality of (Continued On Page 2)

Absentee Ballot Close November 1

Persons who wish to secure absentee ballots in Adams County are to notify Ray J. Snyder, deputy commissioners' clerk, immediately.

So far 135 countians have taken advantage of the new regulation which permits the sending of ballots to registered voters of the county who anticipate being out of the county November 8.

The last day on which such ballots may be issued is November 1.

Persons who wish the ballots may either appear in person at the commissioners' office in the court house and fill out the appropriate form, or they may write to the commissioners' clerk for a form.

Since it takes several days for an application form to be sent and returned, and since all applications must be in the local office in time for the issuance of the ballot by November 1, Snyder said those planning to secure an absentee ballot should take care of the matter "as quickly as possible."

Soviets To Keep Up Their Harassment Of Hammarskjold

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviets made clear today they intend to keep harassing Dag Hammarskjold in the apparent hope of forcing him to quit as secretary-general.

The attacks, steadily mounting in intensity, are expected to reach a climax Monday or Tuesday when Hammarskjold is slated to put in an estimated bill of $150 million to $200 million to cover the cost of the Congo operation through next year.

The Soviet bloc served notice in the 99-nation Financial Committee Friday that they will not pay any part of the Congo bill. Czechoslovakia accused the United Nations of playing a "dirty role" in the strife-torn African state and charged Hammarskjold with hypocrisy and showing partiality to the West.

SPARKS SHARP REPLY

The attack sparked a sharp reply from the United States which branded it a move aimed at wrecking the United Nations.

Albert F. Bender, U.S. delegate, called the Czech statement "one of the most deplorable ever made in this body."

He said that by charging the United Nations with playing a dirty role, Czech delegate Miroslav Nacvalac had hurled insults at Hammarskjold, the U. S. government and all other nations

FLOAT PARADE STAGED HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

More than 2,000 people were in the downtown area Friday night to watch the annual Home-coming parade of the students of Gettysburg College on the eve of Gettysburg-Muhlenberg football game.

A dozen floats described by viewers as superior in some instances to floats of other years, were entered in the parade by the college fraternities. The floats will be shown again today at the football game.

Each of the floats depicted what the students anticipate will happen to the Muhlenberg "Mules" this afternoon during the game.

The Gettysburg College band led the procession which included members of the football team and cheer leaders in cars. They paused for a pep rally on Lincoln Square.

Floats ranged from a "Victory Ark," from which the mule was "banned" by a "Noah" football player representing Gettysburg, to a beautiful reproduction of a stage coach drawn by students. Elephants were featured on several floats and on one Muhlenberg turned into a canary in a cage. One large float depicted a meat grinder turning the "Mule" into sausage. Nearly all of the floats were animated in one fashion or another. One float depicted a large old fashioned clock with figurines coming out of the doors at the top of the clock. One figure was a mule, another a wood chopper. The woodchopper from time to time turned and cut down the mule.

CRASH IN SQUARE

Howard E. Eagleston, 71, Saunderson, R. 1, reported to borough police Friday that while traveling north through Lincoln Square he struck the side of an auto driven by Mrs. Katherine Ambrose, 30, 168 York St. Damage to the Ambrose car was estimated at $195.

ACCUSE SECRETARY

"Our organization is built on good faith," Bender declared. "I suggest that whoever attempts to destroy that good faith is not only violating the spirit of the charter; he may well be considered to have as his goal the total destruction of the United Nations itself by sowing the seeds of distrust."

Later the Soviets issued a statement accusing Hammarskjold of following a policy of "direct sabotage" of Security Council resolutions on the Congo.

The Soviets charged that Patrice Lumumba, deposed Congo premier, was being denied the right to appear before the General Assembly to report on the situation. It also accused Hammarskjold of refusing to ensure normal conditions for functioning of the Congo parliament.

MEET ON FRIDAY

Hammarskjold's Congo advisory committee met Friday night reportedly to discuss the feasibility of having the U. N. try to convene the Congo Parliament to spell out just who is the actual head of government.

Informants believed that the Soviets knew of this and were trying to get on the bandwagon by issuing a call for the Parliament to meet.

"Polly" Sieber Is Honored At Testimonial Here On Friday

One of the greatest athletes in the history of Gettysburg College, Dr. Paul R. "Polly" Sieber, was the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner tendered him by college alumni and friends, Friday evening in the school Dining Hall.

"Football, I always claim, plays an important part in making outstanding citizens, such as 'Polly' Sieber," Harvey Harman, guest speaker, told approximately 120 persons honoring the former Bullet star.

Harman read quotes by General Douglas MacArthur and President Eisenhower, pertaining to the importance of athletics in our present way of life. Both national leaders are former recipients of the National Football Foundation Medal. Harman then said, "What do these statements have to do with 'Polly' Sieber?"

APPLE CIDER FEATURED AT MART TODAY

Ike Vacations At Palm Springs Resort

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower is back in this land of golf and sunshine today.

He got in a round of golf at the Eldorado Country Club immediately after arriving here from San Diego, Friday.

He changed from business clothes to golf togs on the jet airliner that brought him. He came off wearing golf cap and spiked shoes, and was whisked by helicopter to a spot near the first tee.

Eisenhower plans to remain here until Monday morning and then resume the cross-country speaking tour he started last Monday.

Gets Evidence On Hate Literature

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate investigator turns over evidence to Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., today on the mailing of anonymous anti-Catholic literature during the election campaign.

The investigator, Roy A. Sheaff, said Friday night there is evidence that Texas oil millionaire H. L. Hunt may have paid for printing and mailing some of the material.

A big hearing on the whole issue of bigotry in the campaign may be in the works, the counsel said.

Sheaff, who made his comments in New York, is minority counsel of the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections. Keating is the subcommittee's ranking minority member. Sen. Theodore F. Green, D-R.I., heads the group.

Says Free People Happier Than Reds

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—America should stop worrying about Russian advances in education and continue to work toward democratic educational goals, a Bucknell University administrator says.

Wesley N. Haines, director of development at Bucknell, Friday told several thousand teachers at the fall conference of the central western zone of the New York State Teachers Association that "democracy is a happier and more satisfying way of life than communism, and we will do all to imitate the communists' barren existence."

He criticized Adm. Hyman Rickover, who said that he could not find any drum majorettes in Poland or Russia.

"An excellent student who is also an excellent drum majorette is a joyous creation of which an American school may well be proud," Haines said.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey struck at Sen. John F. Kennedy Friday night in Oregon, a state Dewey carried in his 1948 bid for the presidency.

The former New York governor and two-time presidential nominee of the Republicans said he was for Vice President Richard M. Nixon because he felt Nixon had learned the lessons of history.

Three Injured In Tumble From Truck

An East Berlin woman and her two grandchildren were injured when they fell out of a truck near Frankintown Thursday about 5 p.m.

Mrs. Calvin Lerew and grandsons, Gary and Ronald, were riding in the truck driven by her husband. As they were rounding a curve, the door flew open and they were tossed to the road.

The boys were treated for minor injuries by Dr. Joseph Eshleman, East Berlin. Mrs. Lerew also was treated by the doctor and then removed in the East Berlin ambulance to West Side Osteopathic Hospital, York. She suffered facial cuts and other injuries.

COPS WON'T WALK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—To the Congolese police independence means no more walking. Hostile tribesmen back at each other with machetes and street corner card games flourish in this African city—but the gray uniformed police refuse to leave their patrol cars.

"You must patrol the city on foot to be effective," worried United Nations officials told local police chiefs.

"That's not fair," replied the Congolese, shaking their heads. "It's independence. The Belgians didn't walk when they were here. We are like the Belgians now."

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Co. says a Trendex survey indicates that 70 million persons watched Friday night's television debate between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

MANY EVENTS PLANNED BY COUNTY CLUB

Plans for a hayride and Halloween party October 29 at the home of Nevin Wintroe, near Littlestown, were outlined Thursday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Senior Extension Club at the West St. branch of the Gettysburg National Bank.

President James Behney presided with 30 members present. Plans were made for participation in the 4-H Achievement banquet to be held November 3 at the York Springs Elementary School.

November 5 at 7 p.m. at Hagerman's, near Hampton, was announced as the time and place for the next bowling match.

Plans were made for a public square dance November 11 at the Cashtown Community Hall with Danny Miller of Hagerstown as the caller.

Miss Dorothy Anthony showed slides made on her trip as a 4-H delegate to California.

The next meeting of the Senior Extension Club will be held at 8 p.m. on November 18 at the West St. branch of the local bank.

MAY WITHHOLD PAYROLL IF 21 AREN'T OUSTED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith has threatened to withhold the Insurance Department payroll unless 21 civil service employees accused of political activity are removed from it.

The Republican fiscal officer Friday made public a letter to Francis R. Smith, of Philadelphia, state insurance commissioner, demanding that the employees, all from Philadelphia, be dismissed immediately.

"If this course of action is not followed, you will give us no alternative but to return the entire payroll of the Insurance Department unapproved, if it contains the names of the employees who, under the opinion of the attorney general, must be dismissed, the auditor general told Smith.

The insurance commissioner has insisted he wants to hold public hearings and "learn the facts in the case" before he takes action.

Miss Alayne ruled Sept. 13 that any employee covered by civil service "who has engaged in political activity prohibited by the Civil Service Act must be dismissed."

In the latest exchange between the two state officials, the auditor general challenged the insurance commissioner's right to hold public hearings.

"... We seriously doubt if the (Civil Service) Commission would authorize you to conduct these hearings under the present circumstances," the auditor general told Smith. He added: "Your sole function, if you are to uphold the laws of this Commonwealth and give full faith to them, is to dismiss the employees."

evening by "Hen" Bream was V. B. Dayhoff, 70, who was a quarterback on the Gettysburg College football squad in 1910 when the Bullets lost to the Carlisle Indian team 29-3. Gettysburg's only score was a 48-yard drop kick by Dayhoff. "Pop" Warner was coaching the Indians then. That same year Gettysburg beat Muhlenberg by a score of 3-0 and again it was a Dayhoff drop kick that scored Gettysburg's only points.

Preceding the dinner, Rev. William W. Wood gave the invocation. Rev. Mr. Wood served as head football coach at Gettysburg from 1919 to 1926.

Among the dinner guests were Mrs. Paul R. Sieber, General and Mrs. Willard S. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Haas and Mrs. Henry T. Bream.

SOLOIST USES

tone improves with the value of the metal used.

Two works are on Goldberg's program. One is Mozart's Concerto for Flute and Orchestra in G Major from which he will play the first movement and the other is Doppler's Hungarian Pastoral Fantasy, a pleasant and delightful contrast to the more formal Mozart composition.

JOINED ORCHESTRA AT 16

Both indicate the range of Goldberg's instrumental mastery, a product of long development. Born in Belleville, Ill., where one of the oldest community orchestras in the country is still playing regular concerts, he made his debut with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at the age of 16. Shortly thereafter he became a scholarship pupil of Georges Barrere at the Juilliard School of Music in New York. At the age of 21 he became solo flutist of the Cleveland orchestra and a faculty member at the Cleveland Institute of Music. He joined the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra in 1947.

Goldberg serves on the faculties of Duquesne University and Mt. Mercy College. He is a member of the "Musica Viva" Trio, the Gateway to Music Woodwind Quintet and the Chicago Baroque Players. Assistant conductor of the Pittsburgh Youth Orchestra, he is also president of the Pittsburgh Flute Club.

The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra is appearing here as a public service presentation by Manufacturers Light and Heat Company. Tickets are on sale in the hands of 18 area clubs which will receive the entire proceeds for their community service projects.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Nixon comes to southeastern Pennsylvania today for a swiftly-paced campaign swing that promises some rare touches of Republican festivity.

The party leaders have planned, by way of extravaganza, a balloon ascension, a bursting forth of 10,000 roses, and impersonations of George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln.

Even before the tour starts, glamor and spectacle are in store for the man who is trying to advance his political cause in a state whose 32 electoral votes are too vital to a presidential aspirant.

U. S. BUYERS OF GOLD RECEIVE LITTLE PROFIT

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Gold buying is a gambler's game. The feverish rise in gold prices involves only a tiny amount of the world's store of gold being traded on open markets.

The price rise effect on the vast number of Americans is nil—so far. It could affect them only if the U.S. Treasury were to devalue the dollar in terms of gold—that is, pay more than the present $35 an ounce for the metal.

The U.S. Treasury says it won't. Foreign bankers seem agreed the Treasury doesn't have to now. Only a runaway flight from the dollar based on loss of confidence in it could force the Treasury's hand—and before that it could sell enough of its gold hoard on the world market to deflate the present boom.

COULD AFFECT PRICES

Only such a devaluation of the dollar could affect prices, wages—and the value of and income from investments already made.

So the gambler's game today is primarily a spectacle of get rich quick operators preying on some Europeans' distrust of the U.S. dollar and economy. It does hold the threat of undermining the dollar—but only a distant and most unlikely threat.

All the gold traded by private operators on the open market during the rise this week of about $5 in the price of gold is estimated to have been no more than $10 million or $15 million. This compares with the $18.5 billion the U.S. Treasury holds and the $33 million which foreign central banks acquired during the last week from the Treasury in normal dealings.

SLIM CHANCES

All concerned insist that central banks aren't involved in the open market trading—which some bankers here characterize as just peanuts.

The chance of any but the most sophisticated American investor taking part in the gamble also is slim. U.S. gold miners must sell all their output to the U.S. Treasury. U.S. citizens can't buy gold in this country except for use in the arts and industries or as old gold coins for collections. Dealers who last week were paying around $38 an ounce for them today give $42.

You could buy a gold bar in Toronto, put it away in a hired safety box and get no interest on your investment—just the hope of selling it for more than you paid.

SEES BETTER BUSINESS SOON

By STERLING F. GREEN
HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, meeting today with 100 of the biggest names of industry, refuses to label the fall business hesitation a recession. He predicts better business ahead.

Despite the drop of most business indexes in September, Mueller said national output will more than regain its lost ground before the end of the year. It then will hold at a record high plateau until mid-1961, he forecast, and thereafter climb sharply.

Mueller said most of the major corporation heads who made up the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, meeting behind closed doors with him here, are "exceedingly optimistic."

But reporters found some who said privately they considered the country to be going through a mild, brief recession. The council's head, Board Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co., agreed generally with Mueller.

"I don't think of it as a recession," Cordiner said. He described the letdown as "an adjustment from inflation"—a lull marked by weakened consumer demand which, he said, is characteristic of the end of a rapid inflationary advance.

COMMUTER SERVICE MAY BE CUT OFF

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad says it will ask the Public Utility Commission for permission to discontinue all Pittsburgh area commuter train service.

Morton S. Smith, vice president of the railroad, said Friday the PRR will make the request next week.

Thirty trains, operating five days a week on six lines, now serve 89 stations in Allegheny, Beaver, Washington, Westmoreland and Armstrong counties.

Trains that would be eliminated include those running from Pittsburgh to Derry, North Trafford, Braddock, Elrama, Burgettstown, Beaver Falls, Schenley and Kiskiminnus Junction.

Smith said "hard economic necessity" and a recent Transport Workers Union strike against the railroad are the reasons for the PRR's decision.

He said, "We have been pointing out for several years that we could not continue to underwrite the big financial loss necessary to operate this type of service. And the crushing financial blow suffered in the 12-day strike has not only hastened the inevitable, but made it imperative."

The railroad loses over $500,000 a year on the commuter trains, Smith said, and the number of average daily passenger trips on them has dropped to 5,700 since the September strike.

East Berlin

MRS. JACK MILLER

We recall the abuse heaped upon some of our leading citizens not too many years ago when they were doing their very best, and successfully, to continue operations despite depressions and recessions. They had thousands of dollars invested and they took heavy financial losses to keep going in order to maintain employment. Now that the bottom seems to be dropping out of some of our industries these same men are coming in for some belated but well deserved words of praise for their efforts now heralded even at this late date as beneficial to the community.

But what has gone before is water under the bridge. It cannot be recovered, but something can and must be done now to preserve our industries. We must do our utmost to secure others to stimulate our economy and lead us into happy years in the future.

The Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce has held several meetings on the issue and it is hoped that some good may evolve from them.

Reading is a process and a skill that is truly basic. Both parents and teachers agree on its importance. Because it is so basic, much concern is felt about the teaching of reading to our young people today. Due to larger classes and the added breadth of the elementary curriculum, teachers do not have time for the individual work which is necessary to meet the needs of some of the pupils. Therefore it was felt that a teacher, just for the purpose of teaching reading, was necessary.

Our school now has a full-time elementary reading teacher who is carrying on a developmental reading program. Such a program means taking the child at his present reading level and helping him toward his potential at his own rate of speed. This requires an understanding of the child, his needs and abilities. Often it means conferences with his parents, the school psychologist, the speech teacher and the school nurse.

When school begins a test is given to the pupils in grades four, five and six to find a reading level for each child. This helps the teacher select suitable books for the children. Then in the fifth and sixth grade reading classes students begin a daily review of basic reading skills and work in phonics, which give a child the tools for attacking new words that he meets in his daily reading. The remainder of the reading period is used as a directed reading activity with silent and oral reading, word sharing, comprehension checks, critical thinking and discussion, or frequently, a period is given to the reading of supplementary books "just for fun."

"SEVERAL METHODS"

In addition to the class work done in grades five and six, there is individualized instruction at the fourth, fifth and sixth grade level for those who are not in the regular reading classes and who need extra help. Later in the year when some of those children now having individual help no longer need this extra work, then students from the third grade are included in the individualized reading program. This usually gives them about a half year's instruction, which is continued in grade four if desirable.

No one method of teaching reading is used. Several are combined to make the program flexible. A basal reading series is in use throughout the school system but this is supplemented by books from many book companies and from our fine county library. Newspapers, magazines and many audio-visual aids are used to broaden the reading.

Well-equipped reading rooms have been set up this year in the lobbies of the Keefeauver and Eisenhower schools. At Meade School the principal's office is used for individualized work.

The aim of the reading program is more than drill and building skills; it is an attempt to develop a child into the kind of a reader who gets along well with others, who can read fluently and judge what he reads critically, who has the ability to work out problems and the ability to express himself.

Judge Eagan Top Speaker For Democrats: Judge Michael J. Eagan, Scranton, Democratic candidate for judge of the state Supreme court, was the principal speaker Saturday afternoon at the Democratic rally and ox-roast at the Memorial auditorium in the South Mountain fairgrounds.

Eagan took the place of U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers, who was scheduled to speak but was ordered to bed by his physicians Friday night with a bad case of laryngitis.

Phi Delt's Given National Honor On Anniversary: The celebration of the 75th anniversary of Pennsylvania Beta chapter of Phi Delta Theta was highlighted here Saturday evening with the presentation of the Ward Scholarship cup which the local chapter won in competition with 110 other chapters in the United States and Canada.

Presentation of the cup was made by George S. Ward, treasurer of the general council of Phi Delta Theta, at an anniversary dinner Saturday evening at Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church when national and college officials gathered with active and alumni members and guests to celebrate the chapter's diamond jubilee.

Pennsylvania Week Train Ends 1,248 Mile Tour Here Saturday With "Best Show" As Final Act: Adams county scored another "first" Saturday afternoon. Observers, including state officials and performers aboard the Pennsylvania Week Special when it made its final stop of the week's tour in Gettysburg Saturday afternoon, said the program and the crowd here was best of the entire 1,248-mile itinerary.

Bells In County To Ring Tuesday: Bells will ring throughout Adams county Tuesday at 12:03 o'clock in connection with the dedication of the Freedom Bell in Berlin.

Burgess throughout the county today joined in a joint proclamation calling upon residents of the various communities to ring bells at the time the newly cast Freedom bell is sounded for the first time in a bell tower in Berlin, Germany, 100 miles within the "Iron Curtain" of Russian domination.

Old Grad, 85, Leads Alumni Back To Campus On Saturday: Among the hundreds of "old grads" in Gettysburg over the past weekend for the homecoming, William M. Duncan of Los Angeles, Calif., was probably the oldest at 85.

Mr. Duncan, a native and former resident of Gettysburg, graduated at the college in 1883. He went west, was in the banking business and is now retired.

40-8 Officers Are Installed At Area Meet: Harold Wentz, recently elected chief of gare of Voiture Local No. 731, Forty and Eight, and other officers of the Adams county branch of the organization were installed at the home of the Albert J. Lentz Post No. 202 here Sunday afternoon by Grand Chemist Raymond L. Smith and his staff.

Three Cars Hit In Line At Light: There cars were damaged Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in an accident on Buford Avenue.

Borough police said that heavy traffic on the avenue caused a line of cars to "pile up" behind the intersection traffic light at Buford and Chambersburg street. The line extended to the Glenn L. Bream garage on Buford Ave.

Today's Talk

ON ENCOURAGING YOURSELF THROUGH OTHERS

None of us can encourage others so effectively as we can through example.

I used to love the game of tennis. I would watch the top players and the next time I played I noted that I would show great improvement, just because the greatest players are always encouraging the poorer players.

A champion once told me that she played her best when trying to better her game. She said: "I am always trying to perfect my own game, and so select myself to play against."

We should always keep beating ourselves! It trains the will to excel, and keeps adding to our personal power. Potential power should be constantly fed and given a regular up-lift.

"There are compensations," said William James, "and no outward changes of condition in life can keep the nightingale with its eternal meaning from singing in all sorts of different men's hearts." "That," he said, "is the main fact to remember."

Just Folks

AT THE END OF THE DAY
With a baby's arms around your neck entwined,
And a baby's kiss on your bearded cheek,
And the merry thoughts of a baby's mind
That only a baby's voice can
Don't you troubles all slip away.
And isn't it good at the end of the day?With a hand in yours and a face upturned
For a kiss that you've waited all day to give,
Don't you forget how your temples burned
In the stress and worry and fight to live?
And doesn't all bitterness pass away
When you greet your babe at the end of the day?With a baby's laughter in your ears
And a baby's cheek pressed to your own,
Don't you forget your doubts and fears,
And wouldn't you face the world alone?Then courage and faith are renewed, I say,
In that hour of peace at the end of the day.

Glaremanship, Timemanship
Used Much In 4th Debate

By ARTHUR EDSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy tossed in a couple of new elements in what was probably their last debate.

They both worked hard on glaremanship and timemanship. Glaremanship: that's the art of staring fixedly at your opponent while he's talking, in the hope this may disconcert him.

TALKED OVER TIME

In the other debates, neither paid much heed to the other. This time they gave each other the steady glare, with no noticeable results.

But timemanship — that's the art of talking on after the time limit is clearly up—worked much better.

Nixon has shown remarkable ability to use every second of his time, and a little more so. This apparently is the same theory as playing possession ball in basketball or football. As long as you hang on to the ball, the other fellow can't score.

NIXON NETTLED

Well, they both used it Friday night. The word "cut" would be flashed above the cameras, which is television jargon for, "That's all, brother." Often each would finish his sentence, and it would turn out to be a very long sentence.

At least once Kennedy exceeded his time enough that it nettled Nixon.

As Kennedy raced along with the "cut" sign showing, saying, "and I challenge you tonight . . . Nixon made a "T" sign with his fingers to indicate the time was up. Unperturbed, Kennedy hurried on to the finish.

FAR MORE RELAXED

This reporter was in the studio for their joint television meetings in Chicago, Washington and here in New York Friday night, and with Nixon in Los Angeles while the two debated a continent apart.

It was obvious Friday night that both were far more relaxed than they were in previous meetings. Each smiled occasionally, and Kennedy once broke into a broad grin.

Neither showed the tenseness nor the rigidity that has marked their previous meetings. There probably are a couple of reasons for that. Both now have become old TV debate hands, used to the mechanics of the show. And both have become thoroughly at home with their material.

PROBABLY LAST

What with the scheduling difficulties, and the disagreements over length and format, this probably was the last of the television debates for this campaign. It has been an interesting experience to watch, especially from close up.

And undoubtedly this newest phenomenon in politicking will be much discussed and disputed before another presidential campaign rolls around.

Is this the best way to get the issues before the country?

And isn't there a danger that a future president might be picked merely because he is a fine TV personality?

THINK OF G.W.

This year both candidates are glib and self-assured, veterans of answering questions in hundreds of news conferences.

But what about the candidate who hasn't had this training, and who still might make a good president?

And so you sit there watching the two of them, and you think of George Washington.

Poor George. He was a lousy

FT. ORD, Calif. (AP) — Briton Sterling Moss, hitting top speeds of over 120 miles an hour, broke Laguna Seca's race course record Friday, shortly after a San Jose sports car driver was seriously injured in a practice run.

Moss did not appear to be pushing his 2.5-litre Lotus MK XIX as he averaged 90.5 miles an hour in a qualifying run over the twisting 1.9-mile asphalt course.

SPOT CHECK
SHOWS JACK GAINED MOST

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spot check of 90 voters across the country indicated today that Sen. John F. Kennedy may have derived a bit more benefit from the four television debates than Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In telephone interviews conducted by Associated Press newsmen in nine cities, 32 voters said they thought Kennedy had gained most from the debates and 24 said they thought Nixon had gained most.

The 34 others replied either that they couldn't decide, that neither had gained, or that both had gained.

MOST UNCHANGED

Fifty of the voters said the debates had not influenced their preference at all. Of the 40 who said they were influenced, 21 said the debates strengthened or swayed them toward Kennedy, 17 said the debates strengthened or swayed them toward Nixon, and two admitted influence but could not say toward which candidate.

Although Kennedy had a slight lead over Nixon in the number of voters who thought he gained or influenced them because of the debates, this did not show up when voters were asked who they intended to vote for.

Kennedy and Nixon each won 34 voters. The 22 others said they were undecided.

AREAS CHECKED

The Associated Press conducted the survey immediately after Friday night's fourth television debate. Newsmen in each of the nine bureaus phoned residents of the area at random until ten were found who (1) were qualified voters and (2) had heard the entire debate.

The bureaus involved were Charlotte, N.C., Charleston, W. Va.; Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Albuquerque, Oklahoma City, Salt Lake City and Albany, N. Y.

TED WILLIAMS
"COMEBACK"
OF THE YEAR

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams, who bowed out of baseball this season after an illustrious career, had another accolade added to his imposing list today. He was named the American League comeback player of the year for 1960.

Williams was a decisive choice in the annual Associated Press poll of baseball writers. The Boston Red Sox outfielder received 96 of the 182 ballots cast. Runner-up was Roy Sievers of the Chicago White Sox with 34 votes.

Tempestuous Ted, who broke into the majors in 1939 and served two stints in the armed forces, finished with 44 home runs at the age of 42. In his final at bat on Sept. 28 he bade baseball farewell with the 521st home run of his career.

SIEVERS SECOND

Beset by shoulder and neck pains, Williams' average plummeted to .254 last year. He had only 272 official at bats and produced just 10 home runs. This past season Williams batted .316 and hit 29 homers in 310 official trips.

In 1959 with the Senators Sievers batted .242, hit 21 homers and drove in 49 runs. This past season traded to Chicago Roy took over the regular first base job from Ted Kluszewski and hit .295. He accounted for 28 home runs and 93 RBI.

Al Smith of the White Sox ranked third in the comeback voting and drew 22 ballots. A .237 hitter in 1959, he had a .315 average this past season — second highest in the American League.

Griffith And South
African In TV Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Emile Griffith of the Virgin Islands and Willie Towell of South Africa met in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight with the winner advancing another notch up the welterweight ladder.

Towell, who has fought only twice this year, thinks he deserves a shot at the welterweight title, currently held by Benny (Kid) Paret.

The bout will be nationally telecast by ABC-TV starting at 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

TOP TRAINERS BACK

BALTIMORE — Three of last season's top five trainers at Pimlico will compete again at the autumn meeting, November 14 through December 15. They are Raymond B. Archer, J. Bowes Bond, with 20 horses each, and Harry S. Eklof, 19.

Undeclared Bolts Hand GHS 32-7 Touncing As Bowers Runs Wild Again

A lightning Thunderbolt named Bill Bowers struck four times on long end runs and passed for another score to pace a small but mighty Littlestown High School to a 32-7 victory over Gettysburg High School Friday night on the victor's field. The win was the sixth for Coach Ron Lawhead's charges who have tied one, while the Warriors suffered their seventh straight loss. It was the first game of a new intra-county football series.

The Thunderbolts took charge after an exchange of punts but a fumble by fullback Bud Ecker was recovered on the Littlestown 32-yard line by the Warriors. They managed to move to the 11 on two running plays and a 15-yard personal foul penalty against Littlestown. But at this point, fumbly set in and Duane failed to hold onto the pigskin at the 11, where Gene Applier recovered for the Bolts and ran it back to the 19.

BOWERS STARTS

It took Littlestown just six plays to score from there. A series of running plays off the single wing put the ball on the Warriors' 47 yard line. Bowers then took personal charge, sweeping off the left side of the line to waltz across the goal line. The kick for the extra point was wide and Littlestown had a 6-0 lead midway in the first quarter.

After the kickoff, Duane fumbled again and it led to Littlestown's second score. Don Selby pounced on this one at Gettysburg's 26. Ted Bortner tried the weak side and got six to the 20. The next play saw Bowers swing to the right, cut off tackle, sidestep two players and place into the end zone to make it 12-0 with a minute left in the quarter. Bortner carried up the middle to make it 13-0.

The Warriors started a drive on their own 29 and went downfield to the Bolts' 14 in the second quarter. On a fourth and three situation, Mickey was about a foot short and the Bolts took over. Littlestown was forced to punt after their series of downs and Gettysburg took over again on their own 46.

On their second play, a Warrior back fumbled again and Littlestown took over on the 47. Bowers carried to the 39 and Mottler took it to the 35. An illegal procedure penalty put the ball on the 40 and on the ensuing play Bowers skirted the weak side to go into the end zone, but another penalty nullified this touchdown.

BOLT PASS CLICKS

A third penalty in a row put the ball on the 45. Sheeley, on a reverse, took it to the 40. Bowers, who had injured his ankle, came back on the field with a key play from the coach. After taking the center pass, he started toward the middle of the line, straightened up and threw a lob pass to wingback Tom Sheeley who had gone down and out. Sheeley gathered the pigskin in at the 20 and ran across unmolested to put the Bolts' lead at 19-0. Bowers' pass for the point was knocked down by Utz. The Warriors weren't able to move the ball on the next series and Dean's put ended the first half.

After Gettysburg was forced to punt following the kickoff, the Bolts moved from their 47 to the Warriors' 27 on five running plays. Again, Bowers went off the weak side and broke clear at the 20 to score easily with five minutes gone in the quarter. Larry Snyder's pass to John Strevig for the point made it 26 to 0.

The Bolts came right back after Applier stole the ball from Jim Davies on an option play. Davies had moved his team from the 25 to the Bolts' 30 yard line on a series of quarterback sneaks, options and a fine screen pass to Dean. But Applier put the stopper to all that, and on the first play following, Bowers shot through the left side to score untouched with a 70-yard scamper.

Applier's kick failed and the score read 32 to 0.

Gettysburg, playing against the subs of Littlestown, moved from their own 19 down to the 47 of Littlestown. Davies threw two fine consecutive jump passes to highlight the drive. But on a fourth and seven at the 47, Bair knocked down Davies' pass to end the quarter.

Littlestown drove to the Gettysburg 10 early in the last frame with Applier and Mottler sharing the totting duties. Here, Littlestown pulled four linemen and put them in the tailback slot on four consecutive plays. Each man tried right end or tackle but the Warriors held.

WARRIORS SCORE

Gettysburg managed to put together their last drive of the evening at this point. Playing against the last echelon of Littlestown players, Dean reeled off two fine runs, one of 52 yards, and the clincher of 30, both off left tackle, to put the Warriors on the scoreboard with less than four minutes remaining in the game. Dick McClellan scored the seventh point for G-burg on a reverse for the extra counter.

Of Littlestown's 305 yards from scrimmage, Bowers personally accounted for 259 yards rushing. He threw the 45-yard pass-run play, in addition to his two punts which averaged 30 yards.

An oddity of the game was that Littlestown recorded only six first downs all evening while the Warriors were able to get 10, two of these coming on penalties, and two on passes.

Next Friday the Warriors will host Waynesboro at 8 p.m.

IOWA, PURDUE OLE MISS IN STERN TESTS

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
The second half of the college football season gets under way today with Iowa and Mississippi, the two top clubs in the nation, facing stern tests.

Iowa, which has won only one of its four games by a decisive margin, tackles Purdue in a Big Ten game, while Mississippi, pushed out of the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll this week by the Hawkeyes, goes against Arkansas in a night game. Iowa has beaten Oregon State, Michigan State and Wisconsin by a total of 29 points. The Hawkeyes did clobber Northwestern 42-0 in their sole show of offensive power.

NO SETUP

Purdue is no setup. The Boiler-makers are rated No. 10 in the country and a victory over Iowa would enhance their chances of winning the Big Ten title.

Like Iowa, Mississippi has had some uncomfortable moments, just as virtually every other major unbeaten in the nation. Arkansas (4-1) edged Texas last week and probably is Mississippi's toughest test yet. But fullback Jo Paul Alberty is out with injuries and that will hurt.

The Rebs, with Jake Gibbs spearheading their drive, have sailed through five opponents. But they had trouble with Memphis State and against punchless Tulane last week, finished operations with a 26-13 verdict.

NAVY SHOULD WIN

Syracuse, relegated to the No. 3 spot because of unimpressive victories in its first four games, has a date with winless West Virginia. The Orange, national champions last year, will have to run up a big score to regain some of its prestige.

Navy, which is making threats to move in as top team in the East should Syracuse falter, is rated at No. 4 in the country. The Midshipmen will have to run up a big score to regain some of its prestige.

Defense-minded Missouri, No. 5, hoping to displace Oklahoma as Big Eight champion for the first time in a dozen years, has a league game scheduled with Iowa State.

LITTLE BROWN JUG

Minnesota, No. 6, the surprise power of the Big Ten, plays Michigan in the first annual Little Brown Jug game. The Gophers, who were beaten by just about everyone in the league last year, will have no cinch.

Another important Big Ten game pits Ohio State, No. 9, against Wisconsin, which lost in the final minute to Iowa last week, while Baylor, No. 7, current favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, engages Texas A&M.

Washington, No. 8, top dog on the West Coast, might not have things all its own way against Oregon State (4-1), what with All-America quarterback Bob Schloredt out with a broken collar bone. Notre Dame and Northwestern meet in the television game of the week — 1:15 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, (ABCTV).

Casper Favored In El Camino Match

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Billy Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., the hottest golfer on the fall circuit, tries for his fourth straight win in the $16,000 El Camino PGA pro-amateur tourney opening today.

Casper last weekend added the Orange County Open title to his string, which includes the Portland Open and the Hesperia Open. The 36-hole El Camino has attracted Tommy Bolt, Marty Furgol, Doug Sanders, Jack Fleck, George Bayer and Paul Harney among others.

G-BURG DROPS SOCCER MATCH TO BUCKNELL

Bucknell handed the Gettysburg College soccer team its fourth straight setback of the season as the Bison captured a 9-1 decision Friday afternoon on the winner's field.

The Bullets could never find their mark throughout the game while Bucknell rammed through three goals in the first period and three more in the second to lead 6-0 at the end of the half. Bill Dahl tallied a trio of goals for the winners with Bob Schad and Lyman Ott following with two each.

Ray Truett scored the Bullet's lone tally midway through the second frame. Steve Cox, Gettysburg goalie, turned in the outstanding defensive performance as he racked up 23 saves.

Gettysburg (0-4) will travel for the fifth straight time when they tangle with Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, Wednesday.

FIRE ATLAS MISSILE
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

The Air Force early today successfully fired an Atlas missile 7,000 miles to a planned target area in Atlantic waters off the coast of South Africa.

The 85-foot intercontinental range rocket reportedly met all objectives in delivering its tactical-type nose cone to a point about 200 miles off the west coast of South Africa and about 1,200 miles southeast of St. Helena Island.

GIANTS SHUTOUT BY JAPANESE

TOKYO (AP)—The favored San Francisco Giants were shut out 1-0 today by the Yomiuri Giants as the visitors opened their 16-game goodwill tour of Japan.

The Tokyo team scored its run in the seventh inning.

Centerfielder Akira Kunimatsu smashed a high fly which Willie Mays dropped to give the Japanese a triple. He then scored on a squeeze bunt.

NEGROES GET DEATH PENALTY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Four Negroes heard the sentence of death by electrocution passed upon them Friday night, after a jury of 12 white men convicted them of raping a young white girl.

Robert Parks, 23; J. C. Kelley, 17; Wilson Williams, 17; and James Cunningham, 22, stood quietly as the sentences were read. Parks suddenly began weeping and pulled out a handkerchief to wipe his eyes.

Punishment, as provided by Tennessee law, was fixed by the jury, with Criminal Court Judge Campbell Carden passing sentence. The judge said he would set a date for the electrocution later.

Defense attorneys were given 30 days in which to file motion for a new trial. Negro attorney Adolpho Birch, defending all but Cunningham, indicated to reporters that such a motion would be filed.

The four Negroes were convicted of raping the 17-year-old girl Aug. 4 as she and a boy friend were parked in a lovers' lane. The girl, from Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., was here visiting relatives at the time.

D. A. To Try Again For Indictments

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—District Attorney Robert M. Harris plans to take evidence obtained in state police gambling raids last June to the next Schuylkill County grand jury, slated to convene in December.

He obtained permission to take 142 cases to the next jury Friday, as the present jury ended its deliberations on the cases. It did not return a single indictment. There were 36 defendants.

Harris said he feels there is sufficient evidence to sustain some true bills. Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier granted Harris permission to take the evidence to the next jury.

ARKANSAS HAS ALL TO GAIN WITH OLE MISS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Underdog Arkansas has everything to gain and little to lose tonight when it meets Mississippi, the No. 2 college football team in the nation, before 41,000 at War Memorial Stadium.

Jake Gibbs and Co., who have won five in a row for unbeaten Mississippi, will be straining to regain the No. 1 spot they lost to Iowa in the latest Associated Press poll. Arkansas, ranked No. 14, can lose with honor and still have a crack at the Southwest Conference title after this battle with a neighboring rival from the Southeastern Conference.

Fresh from a thrilling 24-23 victory over Texas, on Mickey Ciselli's 30-yard field goal with 15 seconds to go, Coach Frank Broyles' once-beaten Arkansas team hopes to knock off the high-ranked Ole Miss rebels.

Arkansas' hopes ride on the right arm of George McKinney who threw three touchdown passes against Texas. If the Razorbacks are to triumph, it must be on the passing of McKinney and the running of halfback Lance Alworth, still bothered by a knee injury.

Gibbs is the big man of the Mississippi offense with his eight touchdown passes and four more TDs by running. He has gained a total of 669 yards in 90 plays or an average of 7.4 yards in his drive for All-America recognition. The senior from Grenada, Miss., has been called by Arkansas Coach Broyles and others "the best college football player I ever have seen."

Cubans Arrest
Maj. Wm. Morgan
HAVANA (AP)—Maj. William Morgan, who gave up his American citizenship to follow Fidel Castro, has been arrested on suspicion of helping insurgents in the Escambray Hills, the Cuban army announced Friday night.

Morgan, of Toledo, Ohio, claimed in August 1959 that he posed as an anti-Castro plotter and successfully baited a trap that led to the arrest of several hundred Cubans and the capture of a planeload of invaders from the Dominican Republic.

The Army communique said he and Maj. Jesus Carreras are under investigation on charges of aiding anti-Castro rebels "at the direction of foreign interests."

CARLISLE WINS OVER HANOVER; DECISION NEAR

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lock Haven, Monessen, Beaver Falls, North Penn, Carlisle and Minersville came through with the big ones in Pennsylvania scholastic football Friday.

Kane, Erie East and North Braddock Scott were the victims of upsets.

Wilkes-Barre Meyers and Massontown continued their long strings of games in which they weren't beaten.

Monessen defeated Johnstown 26-14, ending the Trojans' long string of successes. Their winning string had been stopped at 25 two weeks ago in a 14-14 tie. More important for Monessen's Greyhounds, however, the victory had meant clearing the last big hurdle in their bid for a berth in the SPAL-AA championship game.

SP SHOWDOWN

Beaver Falls similarly got past its last big WPAL-AA hurdle in its impressive victory over Farrell, 33-18, and is almost sure of one of the two playoff berths.

Lock Haven's 33-0 triumph over Milton added further evidence of its predominance in the north-central section of the state.

Carlisle pointed for its South Penn showdown with Chambersburg by stopping tough Hanover, 19-7, while Minersville took a strong grip on the East Penn southern division lead by knocking off runner-up West Hazleton, 20-13.

North Penn held on to its Ches-Mont League lead by beating Quakertown, 26-18.

SAD TRIP

Its trip to Corry was a sad one for Kane, which was trying to set a school record by winning its seventh straight game of the season. The game ended: Corry 26, Kane 12.

North Braddock Scott, one of the favorites in the WPAL-AA race lost its first of the season, and was thereby eliminated by Homestead, 13-7.

Erie East was a shocking 45-0 victim of Erie Prep, throwing the Big Seven race wide-open.

Meyers, by beating city rival Coughlin, 12-6, extended its winning string to 16. Meanwhile, Springdale, which also had won 16 straight, bowed to Hampton, 7-5, in a match of two WPAL-AA unbeaten.

Mason-town, which actually was merged into the Albert Gallatin Jointure this year, won its game with Fairchance-George, 25-7. Although unbeaten this season and last, Mason-town has ties on the record each year.

In other important games: Indiana 7, Conemaugh Twp. 0; DuBois 54, Meadville 12; Sewickley 32, Ramsay 0; York 16, Reading 0; Easton 34, Bethlehem 0; Bellevue 0, Neville 0 (tie); Conestoga 24, Phoenixville 14.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

B. F. M. MacPHERSON
George and James Girty

The biographical data on the infamous Girty brothers, Simon, George and James, is concluded at this time.

In his old age Simon Girty became almost totally blind and was crippled by old wounds, some acquired in battle, some while drunk. With the sure instinct of his savage nature Girty felt that death was just around the corner and he wanted the companionship of his wife and children. Catherine (Malott) Girty, who was a compassionate woman, returned to her husband and remained with him until the end. Because of his wife, or possibly because fear "rode at his heels," Simon Girty gave up liquor and, as one historian puts it, "began to go about the difficult business of saving his soul."

On the 18th of February, 1818, Simon Girty died at his farm, located south of Amherstburg. He was buried on his own land, when the snowdrifts had melted sufficiently to receive him in a grave. His last resting place was, appropriately enough, left unmarked and the exact location has long since been forgotten.

CERTIFIES TO MARRIAGE

In the settlement of her husband's estate, Catharine (Malott) Girty played a leading role. On file in the Canadian Archives are some documents pertaining to this, which are herewith quoted in full because of their historical importance.

"I, Catharine Girty, do solemnly swear that I did publicly intermarry with Simon Girty at the mouth of the Detroit River, now the Township of Malden, in the summer of the year of our Lord 1791 and there is now to me living issue of said marriage, viz.,

Sarah, now the wife of Joseph Munger, born on the 10th of April, 1792, and Oredoux Girty, born on the 29th day of October, 1796, and that such marriage was solemnized by Frederick Augustus Warsbaugh, Church of England Clergyman of the Minu Settlement now the Township of Colchester, in the County of Essex and Western District of Upper Canada.

"Signed Catharine Girty." Note: — According to the above document two of the children of Simon and Catharine (Malott) Girty died before 1818 — the year of their father's death.

"These are to certify to all whom it may concern that the above named Catharine Girty has this day sworn to the above attestation of her marriage and birth of her children and signed her name (by putting her mark thereto) in my presence — given under my hand and seal this 19th of May in the year of our Lord 1832, at Gasfield County of Essex Western District of Upper Canada.

"Signed William McCormick 'J.P.W.D.'"

"Registered the 24th day of October in the year of our Lord 1832.

"Charles Ashen, Ck. U.P.W.D."

WAS NOT DENOUNCED

Although there can be no question that Simon Girty was the most denounced of the Girty brothers, he was not the only one of them to make his mark among the Indians. George Girty rose in rank among the Delawares early in his youth; then when marriage transferred him to the Shawnees he quickly became a war chief of this powerful tribe. His most notorious and despicable act (insofar as the annals of the frontier are concerned) was to lead his warriors in the massacre of the Westmoreland County Volunteers (Pennsylvania) on the Ohio River. There is another side to this story, however, for it was the avowed intention of these troops to annihilate the Shawnees — so perhaps the action of George Girty could be justified.

James Girty, too, became a chief of the Shawnees, but as a council member. Although he participated in advising the other chiefs, at times he was employed by the United States government as a liaison officer in Indian affairs and worked among the tribes in the interest of the young republic. As a matter of fact he (James Girty) was on a mission among the Shawnees and Delawares at the time his brother Simon fled Fort Pitt for the last time. Due to the fact that this mission was not too successful James accompanied his elder brother to Detroit.

FLED FORT PITT

As stated before Simon Girty fled from Fort Pitt with Captain Alexander McKee, a known Tory, and Matthew Elliott, who was of the same mind. Simon Girty was a guide for the party and somewhere in Ohio Simon learned that his brother, James Girty, was at a certain village — so he made a detour in order to enlist (James) as a member of their party. They arrived at Detroit without incident and were later (McKee, Elliott, and Girty) credited with stirring up the Indian troubles that swept the near-West between 1790 and 1794.

James Girty died about 1817 at "Colchester, Western District of Upper Canada" and there his will was entered to probate on May 1, 1817. Girty himself wrote the will, which appears to prove that somewhere along the line he had obtained a fair amount of education. In this document James Girty mentions — my deceased wife, Betsey Girty — my son, James Girty, and my daughter, Nancy Girty, who are both now living with me. — According to the records he left a fairly large estate including a number of "negro slaves."

The name Girty has never been a proud one in our own somewhat biased history and, as is so often the case, something can be said for both sides. It cannot be denied that the Girtys were unfaithful to the American cause and to the British as well, but they never betrayed the Indians — their own people. Much can be said for them in this respect.

The historical and genealogical study of the "Upper" Low Dutch Burial Ground will be continued in this column next week.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—For one hour tonight the presidential candidates will debate foreign policy on TV with neither likely to produce a new idea on the No. 1 foreign policy problem: How to deal with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. They'll no doubt argue on who's tough, what each said or didn't say about Quemoy and Matsu, how to cope with Fidel Castro, aid for backward countries, and the need for big defense. They may even talk about a summit meeting with the Russian.

America's basic policy in handling international communism has been big defense, military alliances, and aid for countries which need and accept it to keep them out of communism.

WAS TRUMAN POLICY

That was the Truman policy from the start of the Korean War. It has been the Eisenhower policy every since. In all their discussions Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy have made no basic addition to it.

What they are really arguing is not some new policy, but which of them can handle the old one better. What they have said so far in essence is: More of the same but bigger.

They have been discussing details of the basic policy although in the end the way those details are handled—for instance, the size and excellence of our defense — may mean the difference between survival and submission.

SELLING JOB

Therefore, what the voters have to decide is which of these two men, Nixon or Kennedy, can be trusted to carry out the already established policy better by new or better programs to enforce it or enlarge it.

So tonight the candidates on TV will be doing a selling job, each offering the same product in different wrappings.

The Nixon-Kennedy disputes on foreign policy are in a sense an echo in reverse of the 1952 presidential race between Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson. But the very echo shows how acute the problem has become.

Eisenhower then, as Kennedy is urging now, called for building up American retaliatory strength.

And Stevenson was saying stronger measures were needed to protect American cities from growing Soviet airpower.

That was only eight years ago yet in that time the peril of the contest with Communism, and almost its very nature, have increased so enormously that it is almost as if the world had moved ahead from bows and arrows to cannon.

American and Soviet airpower—bombers—was the thing to worry about then for both nations.

In the intervening eight years airplanes have slid into the background and the giants are talking about the power of their intercontinental missiles.

Farm Calendar

Ducks Grow Fast—Ducks are about the fastest growing domesticated animals, reports H. H. Kauffman, extension poultry specialist. They weigh slightly over one-tenth of a pound when hatched and increase their original weight 60 times during the first eight weeks. If the calf from a beef animal would grow in the same manner, it could weigh about 2 1/4 tons at eight weeks.

United For Progress—Observance of the sixth annual Farm-City Week, November 18-24, with its theme of "United for Progress," promises to make an added contribution to a better understanding between rural and urban people, says T. H. Patton, associate extension director, who is state chairman. "This movement shows that farm and city complement each other; that the two do not live in separate vacuums, but together they make one whole community."

Start Silage Feeding—Richard S. Adams, extension dairy specialist, suggests dairymen planning to feed grass silage should feed it early if they have a fall freshening herd. He believes amounts of both hay and silage fed should be gradually increased until cows are on full-barn feeding. A gradual change-over keeps stress at a minimum and helps maintain both production and health.

Use Corn Picker Carefully—For safe and efficient operation, A. L. Swearingen, extension agricultural engineer, urges keeping the corn picker in good working condition. Otherwise loss of corn in the field is high and accidents are more likely. A corn picker can snap an arm or hand as easily as a tough ear of corn, so he warns that carelessness around a corn picker pays off in painful accidents.

Finch Jury Out For Fourth Day

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eleven women and one man begin their fourth day of deliberations today in the second Finch murder trial. The jury at the first trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff deadlocked after a week's deliberations. The first case lasted 10 weeks. The second panel received the case Wednesday after 17 weeks of testimony. Dr. Finch, a once wealthy surgeon, is accused with his former paramour of murdering his estranged wife, Barbara Jean, July 18, 1959. He claims she was shot accidentally.

Finch is 42 and Carole is 23.

STRIKEOUT STAR

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Jim Maloney, 19-year-old right-handed pitcher belonging to Cincinnati, has made an auspicious start with Nashville's Vols in the Southern Assn. In his first 52 innings he shows 53 strikeouts as against 19 walks. He had a 4-2 record for his first six decisions.

Emmitsburg

EMMITSBURG—Mrs. Frances Stinson, Mrs. George Paxton and son visited last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake and family in Norristown.

Miss Octavia Troxell, Westminster, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Troxell.

A shrimp feed sponsored by the local American Legion will be held in the post home on Saturday, November 12. Serving will start at 7 p.m.

Donald Stoner observed his birthday anniversary on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Shorb and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Topper visited in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers Topper, Mt. Airy, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stoner on Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Bowers, Quantico, Va., visited in town on Friday.

Miss Margaret Walters, York, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Bernard Walters, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shorb and sons, Jimmy and David, Mrs. Charles E. Shorb and Mrs. Charles Wagaman visited in Harpers Ferry, Va., on Sunday.

The annual Halloween parade sponsored by Francis X. Elder American Legion will be held on Monday, October 31, rain date will be Tuesday evening, November 1. The committee in charge of the affair is Harold M. Hoke and Thomas Gingell. Invitations have been extended to the general public and business groups, as well as organizations, to enter floats, contestants, etc. The parade will form at 6 p.m. at the Doughboy; march-off time will be 7 p.m. promptly. The line will march down West and East Main Sts. to Federal Ave., and up De Paul St. to St. Joseph's rectory grounds. Refreshments will be served there and prizes awarded. This year the prizes will be: Funniest costume, $5, $2 and $1; best looking costume, $5, $2, and $1; most original costume, $5, $2, and $1; best decorated wagon, bicycle or tricycle, $5, $2, and $1. Two mystery prizes of $5 each will also be given.

The first meeting of the Emmitsburg C.T.O. Club will be held at St. Joseph's High School on Friday at 7:30 o'clock. The temporary officers have been appointed as follows: President, Alice Sherwin; vice president, Ronald Stouter; secretary, Mary Marshall; publicity secretary, Betty Jean Topper, and treasurer, Leo Topper. The seven adult advisors appointed for the club are: Clyde Eyer, Mrs. George Arnold, Mrs. Gloria Murray; religious programs, Mrs. Donald Waters; social programs, Mrs. Lumen Norris; cultural programs, Miss Patricia Topper; athletic programs, Carroll Topper. Permanent officers of the CYO will be elected in the immediate future. A youth chairman and committee will be appointed for each of the four activities programs. These, along with the adult advisors and reverend moderator will compose the Catholic Youth Council, which will guide the adventures activities of the organization.

Election of officers was held at the regular meeting of Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 72 Tuesday evening in the basement of the American Legion home. Officers elected were: President, Carolyn Umbel; vice president, Lynn Shorb; secretary, Mildred Harner and treasurer Joyce Sanders. The troop received an invitation to a Halloween party to be given by the Boy Scouts on Tuesday in the local VFW. On October 26 the girls will meet to decorate for their Halloween party to be held on Thursday, October 27. Committees for the party are: Refreshments, Maureen Stouter, Mildred Harner, Sharon Baker, Debbie Baker, Connie Seiss, Josephine Rodgers and Kathy Rodgers; decorating, Carolyn Umbel, Lynn Shorb, Sharon Ohler, Sandy Myers, Dale Elder, Joyce Sanders and Karen Shorb. Several Scout songs were sung and a game played before closing the meeting with the sing of "Taps."

ALL IN THE FAMILY

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — This is the 45th year that you can get an answer by phoning the Lancaster Police Department and asking for "Hutslers." In fact, you can get two replies. Sam Hutslers is chief of police. He was sworn in as a patrolman Aug. 1, 1940, the day his father, Sgt. Charles Hutslers, retired after 25 years. And Chief Hutslers' son Ronald, 26, has followed family tradition. He joined the force Jan. 1.

Let's Look At The Record

WHO'S THE IMPERIALIST?
Former "Colonist" Defends America
Khrushchev Clowns To Cloud The Issue

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

"IMPERIALISM" and "colonialism" are ugly words at the U. N. But think nothing of it. George Washington and Ben Franklin also thought them horrid words as have most Americans unto this day.

Let us try to find in the record exactly what they do mean.

IMPERIAL, of course, is no more than the adjective of the Latin noun imperator, which meant supreme commander, or emperor. Thus it was descriptive of empire, which in turn were the domains over which an emperor ruled. He was literally a king of kings.

It followed, in time, that the nations, or peoples, other than those of the emperor himself, were colonies, or colonists. Actually, the original Latin "colonus" was a farmer living at a distance from the city of Rome. Those transplanted to foreign lands became known as colonists. Some hundreds of years ago, colonists thus came to mean people in any distant territory dependent upon a ruling power not their own. "Imperialism" and "colonialism" had come to mean essentially the same thing, dependent upon the viewpoint of the speaker.

SOME POLITICAL scientists often broaden the terms to include more than mere direct political control. In this broadest possible connotation, "imperialism" indicates "a national policy which tends toward the expansion of national domination and national ideas over a geographical area wider than that of national boundaries."

This definition is so broad and vague that to me it is meaningless. Under its terms, is Canada a colony of England or America? In economic and defense factors, Canada is far more under the domination of our ideas and controls than those of England. In World War I, America, under English propaganda, went to Britain's aid like a British colony. But in World War II, with America calling the tune, a University of London professor moaned: "Britain is no longer an imperial headquarters. England has become a colony of the United States." Within the above definition he was temporarily right.

ACTUALLY, he was wrong. The proper term for the relationship between U. S., England, and Canada is "sphere of influence." Khrushchev and Castro can rant until they are blue in the face and lie with words until they are purple with perjury, but Cuba was never a true colony of the United States. Moreover, America has never had genuine imperial designs upon Cuba.

Geographically and otherwise, Cuba is necessarily within America's sphere of influence. She was there before Cuba was ever freed from Spain. The Monroe Doctrine, long ago, staked out a sphere of protective influence that included all the New World. Spain could not have transferred political sovereignty over Cuba to another European country after 1865 had she so desired. America would not have permitted it. And should Canada today begin bartering bases to Russia, the American reaction would be far more violent than it has been to anything that has happened in Cuba. Why? Because self-preservation is the first law of nations as well as of men. Indeed, it is often the same thing.

BUT WITHIN the duly recognized nations of the New World, the United States is committed to a hands-off policy. Moreover, America has all but begged Puerto Rico to take her freedom and go her way, but the islanders do not want it. From about 1912 the Philippines were openly held as a declared trust until they were able to govern themselves. In brief, America has never practiced imperialism within the true definition of the word. On the other hand, Russia has a long record of direct political imperialism. It began under the czars while Spain was building her powerful empire in the New World. Russia was at that time expanding into and subjugating neighboring peoples from the Baltic to the Black Sea and across Siberia to the Pacific and Alaska.

RUSSIA'S IS a long record of ruthless horror and bloodshed. She is now committed to and is practicing an economic, ideological and political imperialism calculated to encompass the entire globe, with the English speaking peoples as the recognized, major barrier. Why else did Khrushchev, months ago in Russia, shout "We will bury you!" Why else did Khrushchev take off his shoe and begin pounding the table at the end of a speech by Senator Francisco A. Delgado, a delegate to the U.N. from the Philippines?

The senator, age 74, spoke from a long colonial experience. He defended America's long record of help to under-developed countries.

Elaine Stritch Pleased With TV Role

By PAUL GERARD

Elaine Stritch is frank to admit that she had a twinge of doubt in her mind about doing a television series when she signed to star as big-sister Ruth in Screen Gems' new "My Sister Eileen" series (Wednesday, CBS Television, 9-9:30 p.m.).

However, after filming her first "Eileen" episode, the top Broadway stage performer was the first to admit that she's "delighted, ecstatic, and the happiest actress in show business with her new assignment."

Elaine, who won the New York Critics Award in 1958 for her Broadway role in "Bus Stop," is a born-to-the-stage performer, and Elaine Stritch, as big-sister Ruth, listens to her landlord, Appopolous, played by Leon Belasco, expound on the beauty of her basement apartment in Screen Gems new comedy series "My Sister Eileen," which is seen on Wednesday 9-9:30 p.m., CBS-TV. Shirley Bonne is featured as Eileen.

she had heard all the talk about filmed television in Hollywood before she signed for the starring role in "Eileen."

NOTE DIFFERENCE

"Let me go on record here and now as saying that there certainly is a difference between filmed TV and the Broadway stage; let there be no mistake about that. But the difference is not one that should frighten off stage players but, rather, encourage them to try their hand at TV," Elaine maintains.

She points out that nowhere in show business do you find the skilled people around you that you do in television. Also, she disagrees with those critics who says there is a loss of spontaneity or immediacy in filming television comedies.

"There's an esprit de corps on a television set that is remarkable. Everyone is pulling in the same direction and it's fun. And that fun is bound to show through in the finished product."

Elaine is seconded in her viewpoints by two of the most qualified executives in television, Screen Gems' West Coast Vice President William Dozier and "Eileen's" Executive Producer

Harry Ackerman.

Both men are firm believers in filmed television comedies. In fact, Ackerman is known in the industry as the "father of Situation Comedy." Among his credits are two of last season's top comedy shows, "Dennis The Menace" and "The Donna Reed Show."

Joining Elaine in the "Eileen" series in the title role is Shirley Bonne and, unlike Elaine, who had a wealth of experience behind her before starting the series, Shirley stepped in front of the cameras without one day of acting experience to her credit.

"Shirley is one of those rare phenomena in show business who is discovered, screen tested, and given a major role without a bit of experience," Elaine explains. "And, I might add, all of us on the show feel that Shirley is going to be one of the brightest young stars of the new television season."

Shirley, who is a native of Los Angeles, has been a leading fashion and commercial model for the past four years. Tired of commuting to New York for two or three weeks at a time for her modeling assignments, she finally agreed to take a flier at television.

Her agent took her to Screen Gems after hearing that the studio had interviewed some 200 girls for the "Eileen" role and was still not satisfied that they had the right actress. She was interviewed by Harry Ackerman, asked to read for the role and then asked to come back for a screen test. (She was one of eight girls who were screen tested).

"You can imagine my surprise when they told me I was 'Eileen,'" Shirley says. "I don't think it ever dawned on me, even after I had completed my screen test, that I was being considered for the part. When they told me to be ready to go to work in two weeks I was on Cloud Nine and then began shaking all over when I realized the seriousness of the whole thing."

That Shirley has handled her assignment like a polished veteran is history, now. "Of all the 'Eileens' who have appeared in this famous property, we doubt if you'll find a girl more suited for this role," Dozier points out. "This was the quality we wanted in our television 'Eileen' and we couldn't be more pleased that Shirley decided to give up her modeling career when she did."

he adds.

Rounding out the regular cast in "Eileen" is Leon Belasco, a veteran performer whose career includes that of a leading musician as well as top actor. Belasco portrays "Appopolous," the girl's Greenwich Village landlord.

Jack Weston, another New York actor come-to-California, plays the comedy role of Chick Adams, Ruth's suitor.

All in all TV VIEW feels that Screen Gems has a top series in "Eileen," one that combines a proven property with performers who couldn't be better suited for their roles.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By Marshall Tuckey

Ice cream is probably the most popular food of all. All ages and each generation rates it high on the list of preferred foods.
Ice cream was at one time reserved for royalty and nobility. The story of its discovery is lost, but it is believed that Nero served it at his banquets. His slaves ran down from the mountains, with snow, which the Emperor's kitchen staff sweetened with fruits and juices. Ice cream in the early days was reserved for the "upper class." Now it is available to all, and here in the United States we eat more ice cream than all the world combined.
